Micro Inverter is a device in solar energy systems that connects to a single solar panel to convert the direct current (DC) generated by the panel into alternating current (AC), which can be used to power household appliances or fed back into the electrical grid for energy credits; this technology. These inverters are components used in solar power systems that change the electricity produced by individual solar panels from direct current (DC) to alternating current (AC). A single central inverter transforms the DC power from every solar panel in a system's string of connected panels into AC.
