Overview

Fed up with pricey electricity from an unreliable grid, Pakistanis have snapped up cheap solar panels. In an interview, Muhammad Mustafa Amjad, of Islamabad-based Renewables First, says his country can stand as a model for other nations as they transition away from fossil. Pakistan has witnessed one of the most rapid and unanticipated transitions to clean energy, driven largely by homes and businesses installing rooftop solar panels. In just a few years, the country's electric grid transformed from negligible solar power to an expected 20% of all its electricity. ISLAMABAD — Muhammad Zia ur Rahman got the idea to install solar panels on his house after he saw some going up on a mosque in his neighborhood in Islamabad, Pakistan's capital city. [2] In 2024, solar power installations in the country grew at a high rate with solar installations providing an estimated one-third of the country's entire generating. A solar panel system in Pakistan offers a reliable and eco-friendly solution, allowing households and enterprises to generate their own electricity while reducing dependence on the national grid. By Beth Gardiner •. However, solar panel imports have hit record highs, poising the industry for massive growth.
